

Psalm 48:14, “For this God is our God for ever and ever: he will be our guide even unto death.”

If our journey in life is compared to walking through a forest full of amazing views but also containing many dangerous pitfalls and poisonous creatures, then seeking the right guide through the forest is important to our survival.

An inexperienced guide would be a definite NO. When choosing our guide, we want one who knows the way and is prepared for any danger. We want to be able to fully trust their judgement and have confidence that we will be safe.

As Christians we look to the Bible as our map and compass. Answers to prayer guide us around dangerous cliffs and sunken pits.

Along the path we experience unbelievable miracles as we watch God's hand move in amazing ways. The view many times is simply breathtaking.

At the end of this journey, the best view is yet to come: Heaven.

Praise the LORD that this God is our God forever and ever!
